

March 2022

IFMA23 NEWS LETTER

Hello Everyone,

We are very much look forward to seeing you in Copenhagen in the summer of 2022. The field programs are now ready and the conference program has been updated with the final speakers.

We do encourage you all to book as soon as possible as we have extended the deadline for the refund until 1st of May. We do understand that some of you are uncertain as to whether you will be able to participate.

The deadline for papers has been extended until 1st April, 2022, but all the papers we have already received will be reviewed before the 1st April. Remember, we have both academic and applied papers, as well as posters.

We have the exciting Next Gen program where the cost is 2500 DKK. It is now possible to get economic support for participation in the Next Gen and the Congress. Work is also underway to enable economic support for younger participants in the congress. Do apply for this if you, as a young person, would like to attend the congress, but find it difficult to raise the full amount.

The summer will be busy in Copenhagen as a number of other events have also been postponed to 2022, so we do encourage you to book in good time, especially if you are looking for other accommodation than the ones provided by the IFMA. Also, do keep some time for exploring on your own before or after the conference and pre- and post conference tours. There is plenty to see and do in our region!

See more and remember to subscribe to the newsletter on www.ifma23.org

On behalf of the organizing Committee

Brian H. Jacobsen, Denmark

Ove Karlsson, Sweden

Ole Christen Hallesby, Norway